Premium Luxury Private Spa

In their famous coal-heat spas, the ancient Romans used sophisticated thermo-hydraulic technology to direct hot water and radiate steam and heat through the floors and walls of the spa. They knew that giving the right amounts of heat at different humidity levels caused surprising health benefits as well as a general feeling of well-being and relaxation. To achieve these results, the Romans devised complex architectural structures consisting of various halls exhibited in a specifically effective sequence. Raxul restores and perfects the ancient Roman spa ritual by developing a complete wellness concept through all the bioclimatic phases of the ancient Roman spa.

THE RAXUL CABIN IS CONSISTED OF NATURAL ELEMENTS

Stone, steel, wood and glass are skillfully combined to bring to life an object of exceptional design. Natural materials that, with the help of water and heat, create a feeling of timeless pleasure and serenity.
